

RESEARCH INVOLVING NATIVE AMERICAN OR ALASKA NATIVE TRIBES

Unit: Human Research Protections Program (HRPP), Office of Research

Applies to: Faculty and Staff involved in human research

PURPOSE:

When conducting human subjects research with Native American or Alaska Native Tribes, additional safeguards must be in place due to the unique concerns and procedures of each Tribe or Nation. Tribal nations themselves are best positioned to identify potential adverse outcomes in human subjects research involving Tribes or Nations.

